PROJECTS

Netflix Data Analytics Web Application (Django + Full-Stack Dashboard)

- Developed a full-stack Django application to analyze and visualize Netflix user data through an interactive web platform
- Designed relational database using Django ORM with multiple models, relationships, and full CRUD functionality
- Built analytics dashboard using Pandas aggregations and Chart.js visualizations to uncover viewing trends and user behavior insights
- Implemented API-based data ingestion pipeline and developed an XGBoost classifier for a churn prediction tool to identify at-risk users

Health Insurance Cost Prediction (Random Forest Regression Model)

- Built a machine learning regression model to predict medical insurance costs using demographic and health-related features on a dataset of $\sim 1,300$ records
- Performed data preprocessing including handling missing values and one-hot encoding categorical variables using Pandas
- Trained a Random Forest Regressor using Scikit-learn with tuned hyperparameters to improve predictive performance
- Achieved an R^2 score of 0.89, demonstrating strong model fit on unseen test data and reliable cost prediction performance
